Dear Sirs and Madams,

From what I understand of the proposed solution, I am opposed to it. The proposed solution is not in the public interest. It doesn't seem to stop Microsoft from using it's monopoly to extend into other areas nor does it seem to actually prevent them from continuing as they have been. There appear to be enough loopholes to avoid Microsoft actually changing their business practices, which is the intent of the proposed solution. In that regard, the proposed solution would and should be considered a failure and should be replaced with real remedies and real pain for Microsoft if they break those remedies.

Sincerely,

Terry Ackman
